

CITYSCAPES

Russell Thayer, "Wind Rapids"

Terry Lee Dill, "X-Ray Man-Ray"

TORSO
By
Herb Babcock

Ray Katz, "Transformation 2"

Dear CityScapes Supporter:

You are invited to the inauguration of a new CityScapes public sculpture display at an artist's reception on Wednesday, May 30, 2007, from 6-8 p.m. hosted by the Big Rock Chophouse.

You will meet the artists whose sculptures have graced our community this past year and will be introduced to the newest artist to place a sculpture in Downtown Birmingham. Herb Babcock's sculpture Torso will be installed at the northeast corner of Oakland and Old Woodward for the coming year.

The Big Rock Chophouse is located at 245 S. Eton Street at the southeast corner of Maple and Eton in Birmingham, Michigan.

This is the second year of the revival of the CityScapes public art program. Initially developed in 1992 by the Cultural Council of Birmingham Bloomfield, the CityScapes public art program is a partnership between the Cultural Council of Birmingham Bloomfield and the City of Birmingham. This program offers a stipend to each artist whose work is selected for this rotating sculpture exhibition.

Public art adds to a community's ambiance and is a reflection of its spirit. The continuation of the CityScapes program will depend on public support and private and corporate contributions. Please join us as CityScapes adds a new public sculpture to the existing three sculptures already on display in the Birmingham community. Visit <http://ci.birmingham.mi.us> for additional information on the CityScapes program or call the Cultural Council at (248) 593-6980.